

NOAA Weather Station Tour (Second Chance)

Due to overwhelming popularity, NOAA is offering a second opportunity to tour their facility for those airmen who were unable to attend the September 7 event. Don't miss this exclusive second chance to tour the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) facility in Raleigh, NC. Observe how climate conditions are observed, predicted, and disseminated to airmen and the general public. Understanding how this information is gathered and processed will enable you to make better decisions regarding the weather. Registration is limited so register NOW by clicking on the link below!

Directions: Building is located on the NC State Centennial Campus in Research Building 3, Suite 300. Look for the building with all the antennas and radar dishes on the roof.
